

Eric Henderson
CM 1158

1) Selenium allows for the automation of testing webpages, instead of having to click and type through all of the different tests you need to perform

2) It requires Firefox, and does not allow the tester to test the website for compatibility with other browsers

3) `<tr><td>MyCase</td></tr>`

4) `<tr>
 <td>click</td>
 <td>//a[@id='myLink']/</td>
 <td></td>
</tr>`

5) It is a language web developers would be familiar with, and it likely works well with a web browser